Telephone costs

As it is often difficult to separate private from professional telephone costs, two points must be taken into account for the reimbursement of these costs:

- If the employed user has more than one telephone contract, expenses can be reimbursed provided that one contract is used entirely for business purposes. For this purpose, Smart requires a short written declaration of exclusive professional use with signature.
- The invoice will not be in Smart's name, which means that input tax deduction will not be possible here. This means that the gross amount, not the net amount, will be deducted from the budget.
